Record Publishes Names Of Local Men, Women In Armed Forces As July 4 Tribute

Daly City, like most of the Bay area, observed the Fourth of July by going about its business much as usual. Although some people had the day off from work, many war plants were in operation and in general there was little of the carefree festivity that highlighted the day as in pre-war years.

What was happening in France and in the South Pacific claimed a great deal more attention than anything else in most households here.

The Record, as its Independence day observation, is publishing, this week, a list of local servicemen and women. These are the men and women who have full right to know what sacrifice and endurance are necessary to preserve the freedom and independence which this nation has won and kept at such cost. The Record would like to suggest that testimonials of keeping faith with them can be made by buying more War Bonds, by providing blood donations for life-saving plasma, by keeping on "the job," by lending every effort possible to see that the home-front does not retard the progress of the war-front.

This list may not be entirely complete. Omissions will be gladly corrected if friends and relatives will call RAndolph 3215. This paper runs a "News of Our Men and Women In Uniform" column each week and news items are always welcomed.

Friends and relatives of local servicemen and women are reminded that the city has placed two large plaques in the city hall foyer on which it is hoped to list the names of all local residents serving in the armed forces. If

Complete Assessment Rolls For Fiscal Year

City Clerk B. C. Ross has given public notice to local taxpayers that the assessment rolls of the city for the fiscal year, 1944-45, have been completed and are open for examination in his office from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily.

The city council will meet Monday, July 10, at 10 a. m. to sit as a board of equalization, to equalize assessments and will continue in session until all the returns of the assessor have been rectified.

Applications for correction of assessment of real estate, improvements and personal property are required to be verified by oath and filed with the clerk.

Clerk Ross is located in Room 5, first floor, city hall, 75 Wellington avenue.

Daly City Still Short Of Fifth War Loan Goal

Daly City is more than $50,000 short of its quota for the Fifth War Loan drive as the campaign nears its July 8 deadline. Tuesday of this week sales figures stood at $117,767.50, according to Walter J. Lehigh, war finance chairman for this community. He asked that everyone in the city participate in putting Daly City over the top.

While the Fifth War Loan drive is scheduled to close, July 8, the Treasury department advises that all sales of E, F ,and G bonds and series C Tax Notes sales reported to the Federal Reserve bank by July 31 will be credited to the Fifth War Loan quota.

The Bond Booth at the Daly City theatre is being handled, this week, by the following organizations: Woodrow Wilson P. T. A., July 2 and 3; General Pershing P. T. A., July 4 and 5; Jefferson Union High School P. T. A., July 6, 7, and 8.

Additional assistants for Mrs. W. J. Lehigh, who is handling the retail committee, include Mrs. Mary Crane and Mrs. Lillie Pezzola.

Chairman Lehigh thanked the community for its cooperation in reaching 67 per cent of its quota and called for a final burst of buying activity to push on to the 100 per cent goal.

Colma Reaches Quota

Colma district, early this week, had met its Fifth War Loan quota of $100,000, according to Mrs. M. Pauline Brown, war finance chairman of the district which comprises both Colma incorporated and Colma unincorporated. John Ferrari, manager of the Colma branch, Bank of America, is chairman for the campaign.

In spite of this outstanding accomplishment, Colma bond drive workers will continue their efforts in order to increase the percentage of E bond purchases. The government has requested that 70 per cent of the quota for this drive be in E bonds. At present, only 50 per cent of Colma's total sales is in E bonds.

E bonds are those particularly designed for the individual's purchase.

Mrs. Brown reports that sales, last week, were considerably stimulated by the distribution of free tickets to the Far Western Swimming Championships at Fleishhacker's pool, July 2, 3, and 4. These tickets were made available by the sports department of

Tragedy Strikes Hoerner Family

Accidental death, resulting apparently from too realistic attempts to emulate a paratrooper, brought tragedy, this week, to the Hoerner family, 230 Santa Barbara avenue. Richard Hoerner, 13 years of age, was found dangling, his feet a few inches off the floor, from a noose in the corner of the garage of the family residence, dead from strangulation.

Mrs. Hoerner said she had last seen her son alive about 8:30 p. m., Saturday, July 1. Alarm for his safety did not come until late in the evening as he was presumed to have gone to a movie. At 1:09 a. m., July 2, Daly City police were called in on the case. Investigation was made by Officers Roland A. Petrocchi, Roy Beecher and George Savage.

They concluded the death was accidental from the rigging which was obviously a youngster's attempt at "playing war."

Funeral services were held, Wednesday, July 5, 2 p. m. at the W. C. Lasswell and company mortuary. Interment was at Cypress Lawn.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hoerner, a brother and sister, Ronald and Barbara, and his maternal and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Byrne and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Hoerner.

Final Appeal For Masks

Arthur J. Bodien, director of the Daly City Civilian War Council, today issued a final appeal for volunteers to return their gas masks to the city hall. The Army has requested all masks issued to civilians here for its own use. Majority have been returned, Bodien said, but there is immediate need for those still out.

Thanking those who did return their masks upon request, the director asked persons still retaining their masks to bring them at once to his headquarters at the city hall or to the police department, which is open 24-hours a day. Name of the person to whom the mask was originally issued should be attached to each return.

It's all being done in order to facilitate performance of these ceremonies and to maintain thorough records among military personnel.

The Daly City Fire department recently responded to three fire alarms.

Company No. 1 and Company No. 2 put out a grass fire across the railroad tracks from Hillcrest drive, June 28, at 2:31 p. m. when an alarm was turned in from Box 27 at Niantic and Los Olivos avenues.

July 1 at 10:55 p. m., Companies 1, 2, and 4, directed by Chief Andrew P. Chesney, brought a blaze which threatened the home of William E. Shioldager at 467 Irvington street under control. Allegedly the pair had been living here since January. Miss Lawrence, a petite and pretty brunette white woman, was released on $1,000 bond, while Hong's bail was $2,500.

'Broadway Rhythm' Opens At Daly City

Melody, mirth and romance form the ingredients of the tasty little dish Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is serving at the Daly City theatre, where "Broadway Rhythm" holds the screen. Co-starring George Murphy and Ginny Simms in Technicolor, plus the music of Tommy Dorsey and his orchestra, "Broadway Rhythm" is a must-see on the movie list.

It's the story of a theatrical family that has attained success and the impact on them of the presence of a very lovely Hollywood movie star. It's gay and colorful and the story has several new twists.

Charles Winninger clowns and toots a trombone in a duet with Dorsey, George Murphy sings and dances, Ginny Simms raises her glorious voice in song, Lena Horne dances a spectacular boogie-woogie number and sings two songs. Hazel Scott does things to a piano, and Dean Murphy and the Ross Sisters contribute outstanding moments to the film.

Comics Nancy Walker, Ben Blue and Eddie "Rochester" Anderson supply the laugh lines and Bunny Waters joins Miss Simms in the glamour department.

There are songs galore and colorful dancing to please the eye as well as the ear and George Murphy gets the gal in the finale. Roy Del Ruth directed and Jack Cummings produced the lavish entertainment spectacle.

University Of Calif. Invests In War Bonds

With the purchase of $1,800,000 of war bonds in the fifth War Bond Drive, the University of California has increased its total investment in backing the war to $4,500,000. This announcement was made, July 4, by Robert M. Underhill, treasurer of the Regents.

In the first two drives, a limit was placed on amounts which could be purchased, but in the third the Regents purchased $1,000,000 in bonds, in the fourth $1,500,000, and in the present drive increased their last purchase by $300,000.

Students Return From Boys' State

Kenneth G. Hatt, 535 San Diego avenue, and Robert C. Olson, 167 Miriam street, who represented Jefferson Union high school at Boys' State, June 22-29, will make their reports to their sponsors. Olson, sent by Brisbane Post No. 473, American Legion, gives his resume of activities at that group's meeting, tonight, July 6, while Hatt reports to Daly City Post No. 410, American Legion, at the July 13 meeting at Legion hall, 474 San Diego avenue.

Both boys expressed appreciation for the opportunity to attend the annual American Legion event, which has as its purpose instruction for boys in the workings of various government units.

During the week at camp, held at Grant Union high school and junior college, North Sacramento, the boys set up city, county, state and national governments, elect officers and go through all the other steps which afford them a picture of just how government is operated.

Hatt was chosen city councilman and Olson drew an appointment as county surveyor.

Olson will be a senior next fall, while Hatt, Spring '44 graduate of Jefferson Union high school where he was senior class president, expects to enter the armed forces.

Members of State Bar Give Free Legal Advice

Members of the State Bar of California have given free legal advice to more than 55,000 inductees, fighting men, and members of their families in the past year under the provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief act.

As more fighting men go to battlefronts throughout the world, the State Bar report, issued today, says: "more and more cases come from men far from home who are worried about the business and legal affairs of their dependents."

Our boys must keep on fighting—we must keep on buying WAR BONDS until victory is won. Keep on BACKING THE ATTACK.

NOW AT DALY CITY THEATRE

When George Murphy and Ginny Simms have moonlight and roses as company you know romance is having its fling. George is a prominent Broadway producer in M-G-M's "Broadway Rhythm," the current film in Technicolor at the Daly City theatre, and Ginny Simms is a fading film star in search of an illuminating part in a Broadway show. A stellar supporting cast contributes humor, music and novelties galore. And to boot there's Tommy Dorsey and his musicians.

Local Woman Gives Report On Assn. For Handicapped

Mrs. Clara E. Lane, 634 Hanover street, Daly City, has been appointed publicity chairman for the Parents Association of Physically Handicapped Children of San Mateo county. Serving in a like capacity for the San Francisco Spastic Children's society, she is in a position to supply information on the objectives of these associations for any interested Daly City or Colma citizen. She may be contacted at RAndolph 4503.

The San Mateo county group meets the second Tuesday of each month and the next meeting will take place July 11, 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Olson, 317 Highland street, San Mateo.

There are estimated to be more than a hundred spastic paralysed children in San Mateo county. The parents' association was organized November 10, 1941. First objective of the association is individual development, a united effort toward coordinating the home, the school, the church, and all organizations or specialized groups so that all physically handicapped children will find it possible to become useful citizens of the country. Any parent, guardian, or near relative sympathizing with the object of the parents association, living in San Mateo county, is eligible to membership.

Mrs. Lane pointed out that a plan to benefit all crippled children and their parents is slowly being established. Classes are held for parent education. Much of the material and assistance is loaned by the National Society for Crippled Children of Elyria, Ohio. Classes to aid the children to help themselves in overcoming their handicaps are given in the summer. This gives the children more independence and confidence while attending their regular classes at the public schools. It also is said to serve as a means of bringing the home and school closer together. The parents supply the transportation, supplies, equipment, and part of the teacher's salary. Books, magazines, and clippings are collected for reference work for the parents.

The association undertakes to make contacts for the parents to secure needed aid. It seeks to provide adequate training, equipment, and good morale for the physically handicapped child. The association operates as an affiliated group with the Society for Crippled Children of San Mateo county.

Under study at the present is a plan to take the needs of spastic and crippled children before the legislature to secure funds for the operation of a Good Neighbor Clinic in this county.

Police Check On Two Runaways

Two runaway cars were reported, June 28, by Daly City Police. Sterling Winters, Hillside boulevard and Price street, left his 1938 Ford sedan parked about 20 feet east of 10 Vista Grande avenue. At 7:30 p. m. it ran down the hill and crashed into a pole in front of 40 Vista Grande. A bent right fender resulted. Officer Henry Sundermann jr. investigated.

At 9:40 p. m. the same evening, a 1933 Plymouth pickup registered to Vic Gotelli, Theta avenue and Mission street, ran driverless down Hillcrest drive and struck the house at 139 Hillcrest. It had been parked by Red Claus in front of 102 Hillcrest. It damaged the buttress of the house and the car dropped over the sidewall of the sloping garage runway. The tow car from Daly City Garage extricated it. Officers reporting to the scene of the incident were Sergeant Ricco Benedetti and Sundermann.

June 29 at 2:35 a. m. Daly City Police broadcast report of an auto theft to both San Francisco Police department and San Mateo County Sheriff's office, when Ira Johnson, 27 Wilson street, reported her Ford 2-door sedan had been taken from in front of 47 Hillcrest drive. The car was recovered by the sheriff's office and local police released it to her, June 30.

HONOR WAR PLANT

Independence Day was chosen by the Army and Navy at Los Angeles to honor another western war plant. Tuesday afternoon, in a colorful ceremony at the Los Angeles bomber motor-finishing factory of Studebaker Pacific corporation, the coveted E flag was raised and E badges pinned on all the employees.

That it was the fifth Army-Navy E to be awarded Studebaker—previous E's having been given four eastern plants—was pointed out by C. K. Whittaker, Studebaker Pacific president, in introducing Vice-President Stanley Whitworth, production chief, who made the principal talk of acceptance.

Whitworth disclosed the unusual fact that this is the fourth major U. S. war in which Studebaker has produced military materiel. He recalled that Studebaker Brothers, back in 1862, turned their tiny South Bend wagon shop into a defense plant to build wagons and ambulance carts for the Union Army.

Major Howard Adams, AAF, acted as master of ceremonies and represented the Army. Lieutenant Commander Carlton D. Palmer, USN, retired, represented the Navy and presented the employee pins.

MRS. AMERICA MEETS THE WAR

In the good old summer time most members of Mrs. America's family enjoy nice cool watermelon. And this summer they should like watermelons better because new ceiling prices established by the Office of Price Administration will mean substantial reductions over the prices of last year.

Here are July pointers for Mrs. America. The family's July budget of points to cover purchases of rationed meats and fats was enriched by the validation of X8, Y8 and Z8 in Ration Book Four. Each of these red stamps, good for ten points, will be valid indefinitely. If there are any red stamps bearing the numeral eight in Ration Book Four left over they still can be used. These thirty points will be all the ration currency validated for the purchase of meats and fats during July.

And now for blue points. The July quota—50 blue points—is provided through the validation of W8, X8, Y8, Z8 and A5 in Ration Book Four. Previously all stamps bearing the numeral eight on the face—from A to W—have been validated and remain good indefinitely. The numeral on the stamp is for identification only and has no connection with the value. All blue stamps have a uniform valuation of ten points, and all are good indefinitely for the purchase of rationed processed foods.

While on the subject of processed fruits and vegetables, here's a word to the wise. The return of canned asparagus, peas and tomatoes to rationing on the July point chart is a signal for increased victory gardening and home canning. National OPA Chief Chester Bowles declared: "Your victory garden, no matter how small, and the cans you put up, will go a long way toward keeping point values of canned vegetables at a low level this year."

New Meeting Date

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary to Company No. 2, D. C. F. D., have changed their meeting date to the fourth Tuesday instead of the second Tuesday. First meeting under the new schedule will take place, July 25, at Vista Grande Avenue firehouse.

ON THE MOVE

Some faint conception of the problems involved in the present invasion is seen in the fact that for every soldier who is sent into France approximately 10 tons of equipment must go with him.

And that isn't all. Another ton of food, clothing and ammunition must be sent to him every month. In all, some half million different items are necessary to carry on the war. These range all the way from bullets to bulldozers. They include not only weapons but recreational equipment. Many items GI Joe may never see or even know of their existence. But each one has a definite purpose, and each contributes to the winning of battles.

Moving all these supplies and equipment to the spots where they are urgently needed, and doing it often under most adverse circumstances, is one of the great dramas of the war.

In this invasion, our ships land on beaches far from established transportation lines. But the supplies go forward just the same. Modern motorized equipment is the answer. American-built trucks have successfully covered virtually every type of terrain from deep mud to shifting sands. They are now doing a job which no other type of transport can handle.

Now that we have reached our full military strength, now that we have the necessary equipment and the means of getting it to where it will do the enemy the least good, we need no longer worry about the chant that haunted us in the early days of the war, "Too little, too late."

We imagine that Hitler is now muttering, "Too much, too soon."

WORLD ORGANIZATION

Winston Churchill unrolled his able vocabulary to give the House of Commons a review of the war situation and to discuss his idea of a "world organization" designed to keep the future peace.

On this latter point he said, "We must arm our world organization and make sure it has overwhelming military power."

Most of us will be inclined to agree with Churchill that force should be used to back up law and order in the family of nations. But we are aware that this military power is not the complete answer. Britain, Russia and the United States will control the bulk of the armed strength and this should be sufficient to enforce the peace as long as these three nations agree. But what happens if they don't agree? It is not likely that any one or two of them would act without the support and approval of the others.

Back in 1936, when Hitler marched into the Rhineland, the British and French forces together might have stopped him. But Paris and London couldn't agree on a course of action. The opportunity to act was lost and the Austrian housepainter went on from there to set the world ablaze.

The point is: Military power can preserve the peace only insofar as the big nations are in accord amongst themselves. Hence the real need is not so much for armed might as it is for mutual understanding.

CONSUMING DESIRE ESSENTIAL

The United States came into being because a majority of our public leaders and the people were consumed with a genuine desire to be free men and the masters of government. The world has progressed because groups of people had an undying faith in certain philosophies of religion or human conduct in which they believed.

How many people in the United States today are uncomprising in their desire to retain personal liberty and democracy within the framework of our Republic? Of late years, there have been too many politicians insinuating that as a nation we have outgrown the constitutional ideals on which this country was founded.

A majority of our people must have a consuming desire to retain independence at all costs, just as our forefathers had the desire to gain it at all costs, or the United States as we have known it will be but an era in the history books—bureaucracy will have supplanted democracy.

As a nation, we cannot survive as free men if we submit to being the "tended herd" of a socialized government toward which we have been rapidly drifting.

WHAT DOES FREEDOM MEAN?

Early in 1939 an amendment to the Oregon Constitution was proposed to the effect that, "any contract of employment which denies to any individual or individuals the right to earn a living without being compelled to be a member of a labor union, hereby is declared to be against public policy and void." The proposal was dropped because of the war.

With the war's end nearer, however, California this year will vote on a similar proposal, the petition already having been filed.

It seems ridiculous in a free country to have to ask legislative authority for the right to work without first joining and paying an organization. But apparently that is the only way to assure freedom of work opportunity to returning soldiers.

"The Merry Widow," International Favorite, Will Open In San Francisco

An international favorite, "The Merry Widow" will waltz across the stage of the Opera House for a three week extended engagement beginning Monday night, July 10, climaxing at one and the same time the current rebirth of interest in operetta, and the career of the world's most popular musical comedy romance.

As charmingly melodious and lighthearted as when it was first presented 38 years ago, this latest New Opera company production of Franz Lehar's light opera established a long-run record in New York with Jan Kiepura starring in his first musical comedy role.

The lilting tale about the debonair Prince who travels to Paris to court the rich and charming widow, goes back to 1905 when it had its world premiere at Vienna's famous Theatre an der Wien. Throughout "The Merry Widow" there is comedy of the gay, continental type and romance that is intensified by the wonderful music of Lehar. "Vilia," "Girls, Girls, Girls," "I'm Going to Maxim's" and the famous "Merry Widow Waltz" are songs that will never die, that have delighted the world for years.

The Opera House production will star Jan Kiepura, and the same company which won acclaim for a solid year on Broadway featuring droll English comedian, Melville Cooper, and including Wilma Spence, Ruth Matteson, Lisette Verea, Malcolm Lee Beggs, John Garris and the entire New York cast. Tickets now on sale at the Opera Box Office, City of Paris.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

The war is creating a new kind of book, books that represent the combined efforts of men of action and writing men. In this category is "War Below Zero" by Colonel Bernt Balchen and Majors Corey Ford and Oliver LaFarge.

COLONEL BALCHEN

Colonel Balchen, who is credited with more hours over Arctic and Antarctic regions than any other pilot in the world, has been in charge of our base in Greenland since 1941. The idea of writing "War Below Zero" came to Balchen and Ford one day last summer when they were breakfasting in an Iceland hotel. It occurred to them that Americans might like to know what has been happening in that northernmost American air base. In like manner, Major LaFarge, who writes the second part of "War Below Zero," tells the story related to him by four air pilots, participants in one of the most spectacular episodes mentioned by Balchen and Ford.

Though only a little area of Greenland on the southern tip is habitable by anyone but Eskimos, it is one of the key regions in the world for strategy. For over southern Greenland the coming weather for Europe is made. Germany realized how necessary this information was and by 1941 had planted a fully equipped signal station above the Arctic Circle. Colonel Balchen was responsible for ousting the Germans.

The second part of "War Below Zero" is the story of a Flying Fortress which crashed on the Greenland Ice Cap, and so thrust nine men into the frozen midwinter without preparation or equipment. The last of these men were rescued five months later. Throughout the long weeks of the siege, they were kept supplied with food, with supplies, even with war news and letters, by planes that flew up from coast stations. This is a story of unbelievable courage and heroism, both of the men who did the waiting and those who finally brought the long wait to an end.

How much do you know about our Allies? "Meet Your Allies," edited by Nicholas Balint, tells pertinent facts about the history, the peoples, and the contributions to the war effort of each of the 36 countries now engaged in fighting facism. Illustrated with a hundred fine photographs, this is a valuable book for anyone who wants to know more about those who are fighting on our side.

* * *

Bette Davis, currently starring in "Mr. Skeffington," first became interested in doing the character of Mr. Skeffington's frivolous wife, when she read the novel as a Book-of-the-Month Club selection two years ago. It's said that when work first started on the Warner Bros. sets, there was a great deal of confusion because the typists, sending out notices insisted on calling the play, "Mrs. Skeffington." They figured that if Bette Davis was in it, it must be called after the part she played.

OPA Issues Advice On Used Car Rules

Northern California used car dealers today were advised by the San Francisco District Office of Price Administration of procedure which dealers must follow in complying with the price ceiling regulation on used cars which goes into effect, July 10.

George Moncharsh, District O PA Director, listed four requirements:

1. Dealers offering a used car for sale must attach to it, in a conspicuous place, a tag not smaller than 4 x 8 inches.
2. For sales made by dealers at the warranty ceiling, the customer must be given a written guarantee that the car is in good running order and will remain so for 30 days or 1000 miles whichever occurs first.
3. In order to sell at warranty ceilings, a dealer must maintain a place for repairing and reconditioning cars, or be aprpoved as a dealer by OPA.

Moncharsh also called special attention to practices which, he declared, constitute violations.

1. Charging a price in excess of the maximum price.
2. Requiring the purchaser as a condition of the sale or transfer of the car to make payment over a period of time; to finance through any particular lending agency; to purchase any extras not inbuilt by the factory; or to trade in another used car or other commodity.

Mothers Club Plans July 14 Whist Party

Calling All Model Plane Builders!

Model plane builders—attention!

The largest contest of model planes ever to be held in the Pacific Coast has been set for Sunday, October 1, at the Polo grounds of Golden Gate park.

Sponsored by the Aeronautics committee of the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce, the contest will be in two divisions, one for towline glider models and the other for power models.

"Model plane enthusiasts are urged to start building their contest models now," says Ed Young, chairman of the JCC's Aeronautics committee.

The Towline Glider model contest is to be by two age groups, 12 through 14, and 15 through 18. The contest for the power model planes will also be by age groups with contestants 12 through 17 in one group and those 18 and over in the other group. Each power model contest is to be classed into A, B, and C type motors, the committee announces.

Plans are not yet completed, but it has been tentatively decided to award a cup and a war bond to the winner in each of the divisions, and a cup to the second place winners. Judges for the contest are to be selected from the Air Scouts and the Floyd Bennett post of the American Legion.

The Aeronautics committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce announces that entry blanks may be obtained from model plane shops, manual training teachers, Boy Scout and Boys clubs, or from the Junior Chamber of Commerce office at 333 Pine street in San Francisco.

Make Your Own Ice Cream

By Frances Lee Barton

THIS ice cream shortage is annoying, isn't it? But it's one of those things that comes with war.

Fortunately, we can step back into another generation when most of our ice cream was turned out by hard manual labor on the crank of the home freezer, take a page from grandmother's book, and then make our home-made ice cream the modern way—with a mechanical freezer and a prepared ice cream powder.

Here is an ice cream recipe that you may use, even today:

Fluffy Ice Cream

½ package (scant ⅓ cup) ice cream powder (vanilla, strawberry, or chocolate* flavor); ½ cup milk; 1½ cups light cream; 1 egg white; 2 tablespoons sugar.

Place ice cream powder in bowl. Add milk and cream gradually, stirring constantly. Beat egg white until stiff, but not dry; add sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture holds up in peaks. Add ice cream powder mixture gradually; blend. Turn into freezing tray, setting control for coldest freezing temperature. When partially frozen, remove from tray and beat with rotary egg beater. Return to tray and freeze until firm. Freezing time: 3 hours. Makes 1½ pints.

* For chocolate flavor, increase sugar to 4 tablespoons, adding half to ice cream powder mixture and half to beaten egg white.

Report On Aid To County Needy

Direct payments for aid to the needy in San Mateo county were up 28 per cent for May, 1944, compared with May, 1943, California Taxpayers' association stated today, making public its study of the ups and downs in the four kinds of public aid to the needy in California. The total number of persons receiving aid in the county fell off by 16 per cent when the two months are compared.

Total payment for aid to the needy in the county during May, 1944, was $62,531, compared with $48,960 for May, 1943. Numbers of needy persons receiving the four kinds of relief in the county were 1,717 during May, 1944, and 2,054 during May, 1943, the association found.

Biggest share of the increase in the amount of aid given to the needy in the county occurred in aid to the needy aged, with a 35 per cent increase in total amount of aid paid out and an increase of 7 per cent in the number of people receiving such relief.

Aid to the needy blind went down 27 per cent, with the number of people receiving such aid going down 29 per cent. Aid for needy children went down 10 per cent, with the number of children receiving such aid going down 17 per cent. Aid to county indigents went down 41 per cent, with the number of people receiving such relief decreasing 53 per cent.

P.G.&E. Constructs More Facilities

Construction of extensive additional natural gas transmission facilities to meet the increased demand of the war industries, military establishments, and other consumers in the San Francisco Bay and coastal areas, was announced today by Pacific Gas and Electric company.

When work now under way is completed the daily supply of natural gas fuel available in these areas will be increased by more than 75 million cubic feet. Cost of the entire program will be in excess of $2,000,000.

The project calls for the laying of nearly 50 miles of pipe to augment the transmission capacity of the company's pipe line system between the Rio Vista natural gas field and San Francisco Bay points.

The three principal sections of new main to be laid are: 9 1-2 miles between the Rio Vista field and Antioch control station; 25 1-2 miles between Antioch and Irvington control station; and 11 miles between Milpitas gas terminal at the southern tip of the bay to a point southeast of Palo Alto, where the new line will join one of the existing mains running north of San Francisco. Construction on the Antioch-Irvington section is well advanced and work on the Milpitas line will be started within the next thirty days.

In addition to the laying of pipe, the improvements include installation of additional gathering lines in the Rio Vista field where new wells are being drilled, construction of metering and substations, and communication lines for control and maintenance of the transmission system.

Increase of the utility company's natural gas resources at this time will augment the supply of gas fuel to some 500,000 customers in the San Francisco Bay area including naval bases and yards, military camps, air bases, hospitals, and war industries.

In addition, because of an interesting chain of circumstances, the improvement will help relieve the fuel oil situation throughout California by making more gas available for use instead of fuel oil in steam-operated electric-generating plants. Pacific Gas and Electric company, it is estimated, will save 216,000 barrels of oil by maximum use of gas in its steam powerhouses during the last quarter of 1944.

And by increasing its output of electricity through the use of natural-gas fuel, the company will be able to deliver electric power also to Southern California utilities which otherwise would use approximately 566,000 barrels of fuel oil for power production in the last quarter of the year.

The fuel oil thus saved will be available to the United States Navy and Merchant Marine for war purposes.

CANNING ADVICE

Safety suggestions for home canning were issued today by Mrs. Gertrude Christy, director of the Red Cross Food Conservation center, 437 Sutter street, who reminded San Francisco housewives that mistakes in home canning can be fatal, for botulism poisoning results from improperly canned foods.

Canning methods differ with the type of food being handled, but the open kettle and oven methods should not be used at all, the food director stated, because they often result in spoiled fruit. For canning acid foods, fruits and tomatoes, the boiling water bath is the recommended method, while non acid foods, vegetables, meats and fish, require a pressure cooker, for only in it can a temperature be achieved which is high enough to destroy the deadly bacilius botulinus.

For housewives who do not have pressure cookers, the Red Cross food center has a supply of them which may be used by anyone who makes a reservation 24 hours in advance by calling YUkon 1592, Mrs. Christy said.

Consumers of home canned foods are cautioned to never taste non acid foods without boiling them. Any food that has a bad odor should be destroyed as should any food taken from a bulging or corroded container.

Weekly lectures in food preservation are given at the Red Cross center by nutrition experts. San Francisco housewives are urged to present their canning problems at these sessions, held, Tuesday at 2 p. m.

TRADE EXPOSITION

A great civic celebration, to mark the opening of a Permanent World Trade Exposition and the one hundredth anniversary of California's gold rush, has been proposed for San Francisco in 1949.

Sponsor of the project is the Downtown association, which visions a center covering half a dozen square blocks somewhere near the San Francisco waterfront, and adjoining a foreign trade zone, a "free port" like that in New York where goods can be processed and transshipped without payment of duty.

Offices of consulates, and of importers and exporters would be concentrated in the exposition area, with exhibits of American materials and manufacture, so that business men of the Orient and all the Pacific lands could gain there a comprehensive knowledge of American wares.

The opening celebration, assuming that the war is over then, would not be an "exposition" in the sense of Treasure island, it was explained, but a civic celebration, launching a period of world trade with San Francisco as its center and celebrating the return of armed forces from the Pacific war.

Secretary Of State Releases Figures

Although the registration was the lowest in eight years a larger percentage of those qualified to vote cast their ballot at the May 16 consolidated primary election than in 20 years, it was disclosed in official figures released, last week, by Frank M. Jordan, Secretary of State.

Of the 3,370,978 qualified to vote, 1,884,820 or 55.91 per cent, cast their ballots. The highest previous percentage for a presidential primary election was in 1924 when 56 per cent of those registered voted.

The greatest total vote was cast in the race for United States Senator with 931,630 Democrats and 718,010 Republicans participating.

In the vote for candidates preferring Franklin D. Roosevelt and Earl Warren for President, Democrats cast 770,222 votes and Republicans, 594,439.

In the race for United States Senator, Democratic voters gave the following ballots: Bancroft, 53,094; Bonelli, 60,080; Casad, 4,106; Craemer, 23,167; Crowder, 9,292; Dockweiler, 39,364; Downey, 510,069; Houser, 132,376; Johnson, 45,325; Taheny, 13,898; Tenney, 40,859.

Candidates on the Republican ticket for United States Senator received the following votes: Bancroft, 106,463; Bonelli, 54,078; Casad, 2,629; Craemer, 41,846; Downey, 119,412; Houser, 315,828; Johnson, 48,014; Riggs, 3,446; Taheny, 6,953; Tenney, 19,341.

On a statewide basis of votes cast Los Angeles led the state with 782,220 of that county's voters casting ballots. San Francisco was second with 224,402 and Alameda third with 152,146.

NEW WHARF

An auxiliary "Fisherman's Wharf" is being built on the channel between Sixth and Seventh streets here to accommodate 70 to 90-foot fishing boats of the sardine fleet.

The new wharf will in no way interfere with or encroach upon the picturesque Fisherman's Wharf, located on the other side of the city, which is a mecca for tourists and epicures from all over the world.

The State Board of Harbor commissioners, which is constructing the new wharf, has announced that it will be ready before opening of the sardine season in August.

How to torture your neighbors

ONE OF THE liveliest forms of torturing your neighbors is to barbecue some meat out in the backyard (of course, if you're in a good barbecuing mood, you'll invite them over!). And it's a guaranteed way to add special enjoyment to a July meal. Here are a few suggestions which experienced barbecuers have found useful (remember that it's just about the same as indoor broiling, except that the heat comes from underneath):

Give barbecue flavor to meats by marinating them for several hours before cooking, in French dressing or a spicy barbecue sauce; or swab them with either while grilling the meat.

Breast of lamb is deliciously different, when barbecued (allow ½-lb. per person): season, and grill for about an hour or until done, turning often.

Steaks, spareribs, chicken and fish are other barbecue favorites, of course—but be patient in cooking each of them!

Barbecue ears of corn simply by removing silk and husks, and grilling for about 10 minutes, turning and brushing frequently with melted butter or margarine.

And here's a "salad-sauce" that goes with all barbecued meats and makes them taste extra good:

SALSA

1 medium onion	2 tbsps. salad oil
3 medium tomatoes	1 tsp. salt
1 large green pepper	½ tsp. mustard
2 tbsps. vinegar	¼ tsp. celery seed

Peel onion: wash tomatoes and remove stem end; wash pepper and remove seeds. Finely chop all vegetables. Add vinegar, oil and seasonings; mix well. Let stand a few hours to blend flavors. Makes about 2½ cups.

The Unusual From The Unused

I have some unused rice on hand;
Some cake and cookies too.
No person wants this "orphan" food.
Pray tell me what to do?

Today, far more than ever, left-over food is a problem. It seems doubly wasteful to cast it aside and yet it is consistently ignored until there is nothing else to do.

But this applies only in some homes. In others, the wise mothers have learned how easy it is to prepare delicacies from left-over cake, pudding, candy and other foods. Where father and the children express no interest in a little left-over rice pudding, they find themselves enthusing next day over a lemon rice delicacy that bears no resemblance to a "left-over." They [illegible] for second helpings and are disappointed if they are not forthcoming.

Here are two recipes for those who have read thus far and are interested in joining that group of women who are sincerely anxious to conserve foods — particularly when those saved portions may be turned into delicious, healthful, surprise desserts with little expense or effort:

Chocolate Crumb Rennet-Custard

1 package chocolate rennet powder
2 cups milk (not canned)
1 egg yolk, beaten
2 pieces stale chocolate cake (3" x 2½" x 2")

Break cake into 6 or 8 individual dessert dishes. Combine egg yolk and milk and warm slowly, stirring constantly. Test a drop on inside of wrist frequently. When COMFORTABLY WARM (110° F.) not hot, remove at once from heat. Stir rennet powder into milk briskly until dissolved — not over 1 minute. Pour at once, while still liquid, over cake in dessert dishes. Do not move until firm — about 10 minutes. Chill. When ready to serve, top with:

Meringue Topping

Beat 1 egg white and a few grains of salt until frothy and gradually add 2 tablespoons sugar, beating until stiff.

Lemon Rice Rennet-Custard

1 package lemon rennet powder
2 cups milk (not canned)
1½ cups cooked rice
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
¾ teaspoon nutmeg

Mix rice, salt, sugar and nutmeg and divide among 6 or 8 dessert glasses. Warm milk slowly, stirring constantly. Test a drop on inside of wrist frequently. When COMFORTABLY WARM (110° F.) not hot, remove at once from heat. Stir rennet powder into milk briskly until dissolved — not over one minute. Pour at once, while still liquid, over rice mixture in the dessert glasses. Do not move until firm — about 10 minutes. Chill.

Note: Left-over rice pudding may be used in place of the rice mixture.

REVISED RETURNS

Tax-Exempt organizations required to file Information Returns by August 15, of this year, were today advised by Collector of Internal Revenue Harold A. Berliner, that a supply of the revised returns, form 990 are now available and may be obtained in all Internal Revenue offices.

Labor Unions, farm co-operatives and organizations of the same category with accounting periods beginning after December 31, 1942, but ending before April 1, 1944, must file the Information Return on the revised form, the collector pointed out.

Some organizations have filed the Information Return on the old form 990, the Collector said, but owing to changes in the Revenue Act of 1943 are required to file on the revised form 990.

Organizations filing on a fiscal year that ends after April 1, 1944 will have four and one half months after the end of their fiscal year to file the Information Return.

Local OPA Board Gives Weekly Report

(Editor's note: this column is prepared for The Record's readers by the local OPA board and is printed by this newspaper for the convenience of both the public and the board.)

Reports have come in to the local board that some automobile dealers are asking for your gasoline ration books when you sell them your car. If you sell your automobile, turn your ration books back to the ration board . . . Do not give it to the person to whom you sell the car whether a personal owner or a dealer . . . the book is issued to you and does not go with the car . . . You are in violation of OPA regulations if you do so and you can be penalized when you come in for a gas ration book if you buy another car.

Chickens and eggs are expected to be in plentiful supply this summer—plan to use more of both in your menus . . . Some recent point value reductions, particularly lamb and some cheese, have served their purpose, namely, to move the surplus on the market. Now to assure a fair share of those products, points have been restored . . . The Local Board wishes to commend organizations who have given up the use of ration foods for social events for the duration. Many have. If any organization or lodge to which you belong has not done so, it would be a patriotic gesture to do so. Review your requirements of rationed foods—a small sacrifice of a good time now will assure you of a much better time in the very near future.

Use off the valid shoe stamps in your family before you apply for specials. No special stamps will be issued if other members of your family have valid stamps.

Don't forget War Bonds are not rationed . . . you can buy and hoard all you want.

Inner Tubes Now Off Ration List

All tires are still rationed and all inner tubes are unrationed, Paul I. Nederman, district rationing executive for the Office of Price Administration, stated today to clarify the effect of recent changes in the tire and tube regulations.

"Persons who need new inner tubes no longer need apply to their local OPA board for a certificate but merely purchase the tube from their dealer as they did prior to rationing," he said.

"However," Nederman emphasized, "all types of tires are still on the rationed list and an OPA certificate is required for their purchase."

About Supplies For War Prisoners

Additional information regarding supplies for American prisoners of war and civilian internees has been received this week by the Home Service department of the San Mateo County chapter, American Red Cross, from American Red Cross national headquarters.

A central depot has been established at Bergamo by the International Red Cross committee to help feed and clothe American prisoners of war and civilian internees in Northern Italy occupied by the Germans. In view of the precarious food situation, 5,000 standard food parcels and a large number of invalid food parcels, together with some clothing will be sent monthly by the International Red Cross. Fifty per cent of these supplies will be furnished by the American Red Cross and fifty per cent by the British.

As a provision for the possible increase of American prisoners of war during the European invasion period, a three months reserve of American Red Cross standard food packages has been established in practically all German prison camps. Reserve clothing has also been supplied. All supplies, shipped by the American Red Cross, have been issued through the International Red Cross committee in Geneva, Switzerland.

For the relief of Russian war blind, the American Red Cross has ordered $450,000 worth of clothing supplies to be shipped to the Union of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies of the U. S. S. R. Red Cross chapters provided $132,000 worth of the total and the balance was procured through government funds.

In addition to the clothing supplies, the American Red Cross is providing 1,000 Braille watches and other Braille equipment and a large amount of occupational therapy equipment such as metal working, book-binding and weaving outfits.

The suplpies will be distributed among the 800 homes for the 8,000 war blind, 7,200 of whom are men and 800 women.

Report On "Send Your Books To War" Drive

The California Library association during May received for circulation at Ninth Service Command Army libraries more than 30,000 books and magazines from Californians supporting the organization's "Send Your Books to War" campaign.

During the month libraries throughout the state received 25,486 cloth-and-paper-bound books and 4,923 magazines, Mrs. Mary Duncan Carter, president of the organization, informed Xenophon P. Smith, Ninth Service Command librarian at Fort Douglas, Utah, today.

Purpose of the drive, which was inaugurated last March after Army officials at the headquarters of the Ninth Service Command indorsed the campaign, is to assure a continued source of supply of reading material to meet ever-increasing demands of soldiers stationed within the eight Western states, enroute overseas on troop transports and on duty in foreign countries.

During May less than one third of the donated books were discarded as "scrap," as compared to a high of 50 per cent during the earlier days of the campaign, Librarian Smith declared.

Distribution of the books was made by the command's library depot at the Presidio of San Francisco, California, where they were shipped from collection points for processing and "reconditioning."

Californians may turn in their donations at any main or branch library in the state, Smith said.

Daly City Man Aids In Communications

AFHQ, MEDITERRANEAN THEATRE — Communications networks, spreading out like a spider web, are the intangible strands that link an army together—and in the center of that "spider web" are the Signal Corps men who operate, and maintain, and supply the communications network. Storage and issue of signal supply and operation of a communications school is also the work of these signalmen.

At one of the largest supply headquarters in the Mediterranean theatre, with its multitude of incoming and outgoing messages, many of them dealing with the movements of vast quantities of materiel or large numbers of troops, these signal corps soldiers are performing one of the outstanding tasks of the war. Among them is Private Robert A. Crooker, son of Mrs. Eileen Crooker, 88 Risel street.

Woodland is scarce in the Mediterranean, but in the middle of this enormous Signal Supply depot—is a "horizontal forest" of telephone poles, 40,000 or more of them, piled up like so many matchsticks and awaiting the pleasure of the ever-active signal corps.

Real Yankee ingenuity is displayed by the men of this depot. One man had an invention for fighter planes, while another devised and developed an electrically-operated surgical aid, a miniature minedetector, for locating shrapnel in bodies of wonded men.

Couriers, traveling by motorcycle, jeep, truck and even aircraft, deliver many of the messages on a 24-hour-a-day basis, the same schedule that is followed by all of the vital communications branch. Only those who have seen this part of the world can realize the difficulties that constantly face these drivers.

Good Attendance At Swim Classes

Average daily attendance at the sixth annual Red Cross Swimming, Life Saving and Water Safety campaign at Jefferson Union high school is 200, according to Miss Ella Redkey, in charge of the program. The classes began, June 26, and will conclude, Saturday, July 8. Instruction has been for all ages, for non-swimmers, those who could swim a little, and advanced students.

Miss Redkey is being assisted by Mrs. Lillian Clayton, Miss Claire Nace, and Miss Beverly Baird.

Public sessions for children and adults at the high school will continue after the Red Cross classes are finished. Hours will be from 2 to 5 p. m. and from 7:15 to 9:30 p. m. every week day. From July 10 to August 20, Mrs. Clayton will be in charge.

Complete list of those passing their beginner's tests will be published, next week.

Invite Public To Fuchsia Show

For those who enjoy the fuchsia, that versatile plant of the evening primrose family, there will be a show of interest, Saturday and Sunday, July 8 and 9 at Bungalow nursery, Hillside boulevard, Daly City. The event is being sponsored by the San Francisco branch of the American Fuchsia society and the public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

Draft Board Gets Call For July 29

Daly City Draft Board No. 103 has been asked to supply 48 men to take pre-induction physical examinations, Saturday, July 29. Four men will report from the local headquarters for actual induction, Friday, July 28. Under the plan inaugurated, July 1, the board merely receives a call from the "armed forces" and branch of service is not specified until the day the men report for induction.

Among local men inducted, Wednesday, June 28, was Roy Hart, 148 San Diego avenue, who entered the U. S. Army.

Due to the Fourth of July holiday, board members did not meet for their regular Tuesday night session, but will convene Friday evening, July 7. Guest for their session will be Commander F. Edward Walker, district coordinator.

Judge Sweeney Fines Offenders

During city court session, Friday afternoon, June 30, at the city hall, Judge William J. Sweeney fined Burton Chabot, 904 1-2 Vera street, Redwood City, $7.50 for speeding.

Other offenders paying were Gordon Kabeary, 457 Citrus avenue, who forfeited $10 bail for nonappearance to answer charges of violating City Ordinance No. 209; John Wical, 91 Shakespeare street, $2.50, disregarding a signal; Horace Johnson, 2291 Thirty-first avenue, San Francisco, $2.50, disregarding a signal; Wayne Goodpasture, 538 Templeton avenue, overnight parking, $1; Peter Cresci, 188 Bruno avenue, overnight parking, $1.

COOL ECONOMY

PENNY-WISE and fashion-conscious is the home front heroine who makes her own clothes. Looking cool as a limeade, CBS actress Charlotte ("Romance of Helen Trent") Manson wears a green cotton which she admits running up at the total cost of 85¢, including the individualizing monogram. The dress was made from two remnants and displays the new shoulder cap introduced this season in high style dresses.

Local Residents Receive Ambulance

Added protection for Daly City residents was assured, this week, when a fully-equipped ambulance was stationed here by the County of San Mateo. It was secured through the cooperation of County Executive Frederick Peterson and Dr. Charles C. Gans, health director, upon the request of the Northern San Mateo County Civic and Improvement association, with which Daly City affiliated to secure present and post-war benefits.

It will be operated under the jurisdiction of the county, which will pay its maintenance and compensate Daly City firemen who man it.
